Friday 27th March 2020

Dear Parents and Carers:

Welcome to our first joint newsletter, unlike the rest of us... it won't be isolation. As a school community, we will endeavour to keep it up and running with material from both schools. Children, parents and staff can contribute with pictures, writing, drawing, recipes, reviews, jokes, diary entry, or just a funny story about what you've all be up to... As you can see, your response this week has been fantastic with some amazing things going on.

I would like to take this opportunity again to say a huge thank you to all the parents who have contacted us this week, your support has been staggering and has helped all of the staff through this first very, very unusual week. Take care please... all of you!

Goooooooooooood morning and what a beautiful morning it is!

Friday – Always my favourite day of the week, a chance to celebrate what you have been doing...

Georgia Read (FV Yr2)
We've been busy at home doing schoolwork and extras; foil art and sewing - making pencil pots.

"We miss you all from school and hope everyone is ok there."

Olivia Scott (FV Yr4) K'Nex Challenge!

Some of you may have seen this...

The year is 4043 and archeologists uncover an ancient carving depicting The Battle of ASDA 2020

Jack Burks (FV Yr)
Lauren Burks (FV Yr6)
They are both loving the work packs and so far all is going well and as a family we are enjoying spending lots of time together and playing lots of games both indoors and in the garden. Long may it...and the lovely weather continue!

Mrs Iveson (NY Class 2)

Thank you to David Househam (NY Yr7) for his daily messages, pictures and weather updates. He has also been busy doing Maths, English, using Purple Mash, listening to David Walliams audio books and playing football.

No apologies for this Scunthorpe related pun! So... What is the link to Scunthorpe?

I bought a wooden whistle. But it wooden whistle. So I bought a steel whistle. But it steel wooden whistle. So I bought a lead whistle. But it steel wooden lead me whistle. So I bought an iron whistle. But ironically it steel wooden lead me whistle.

(We always blame the refs!)

Seren Evans (NY Yr5)

WHILE READING EITHER TAKE A PICTURE OF YOURSELF READING OR OF THE BOOK YOU ARE READING.

Children:

Please feel free you contact your teachers using the email addresses below, I know many have already. We do really want to hear from you.

The Ascent...

“MAYDAY!” “MAYDAY!” A voice screamed down the loud speaker in the submersible. “We are going down and we are going down fast!” The voice came down again this time louder than before.

“2000feet!” “3000feet!” “4000feet!” The submersible had taken a nose dive. “600feet!” Now everything was falling over and down the long narrow hall ways in the ship.”8000feet”! At that moment I realised that if we went down any further the submersible wouldn’t cope and the pressure would be too much. “10’000 feet” I raced down the hall way dodging all the falling objects to the cockpit. “11,000feet!” I burst in the door to find no one there I was on my own. Then who was on the loud speaker. I thought for a second. Before forgetting it and racing to the steering panel and forcing it up wards. The ship then levelled out. Looking at the fuel meter I was going to be there for a while. So, I turned the engine of soon realising that was a bad idea as the battery voltage was 5 megawatts. That was not enough for restarting the engine. I quickly sent up on the radio a SOS call for help. There was no reply to my SOS, weird I thought. At that moment thought I heard the door burst open. And of course, there had to be people with loaded guns pointing at me. I immediately turned around to find that was a bad idea, after that it all went black.

Then when I woke up, I was leaning downwards I got up to fall over again. So, I then went to get up, then thought is should crawl instead. Then the loud speaker went off “10’000feet”

“We are ascending to the surface,” I thought out loud. I punched the air before standing up again and falling over again. After that I crawled out of the room to see the flashing red lights were now green. I went to the cockpit and opened the door then shut it behind me. There was a man on the loud speaker. “Hello professor Edward,” The figure came and helped me up of the floor. “Here try these on,” The man exclaimed

“No need to be rude but who are you?” ...

The end.

Happy Birthday... to you!

Elsie Hammond (5)

Amelia Hood (6)

Sunny Birks (9)

Emily Ellis (FV Yr6)

Emily would like to share her microwave chocolate mug cake recipe.

This is enough for 2 people.

4tbsp self raising flour

4tbsp caster sugar

2tbsp coco powder

1 egg

3tbsp milk

3tbsp oil

Vanilla

Cook for 2 minutes

Olivia Scott (FV Yr4) and Harriet Cook (FV Yr1)

Using “Purple Mash” yesterday, remember you have access to this at home

Milly Behan (NY Yr6)

Milly has made a rainbow for the house window to cheer people up and spreading hope during the lockdown perhaps the other children could take part and send in their pictures

Milly’s been hard at work and doing well with everything that’s been going on. The support from the school has been great.

Rest of the Ellis family:

Pictures of their daily exercise. Even Emily keeping up her yoga. Also Harriet and Finnley doing their work.

Mrs Rigley (NY Class 1)

The Tiger who came to tea at Mrs Rigley’s house.

Have fun with google 3D animals and build your own stories it’s lots of fun and free.
